2015 Session Proposal Submissions Now Open for National Student Electronic Media Convention in Minneapolis

CBI is now accepting session proposals for the 2015 National Student Electronic Media Convention, Oct. 22-24, 2015. Media professionals and member stations are welcome to submit, and proposals are due by August 1. Proposal submission is online at askcbi.org/minneapolis/session-proposals/

Last year, at the NSEMC in Seattle, more than 100 sessions were accepted and offered to nearly 500 attendees from all over the country.

"The convention is a great resource for students and their advisers," said Will Robedee, CBI Executive Director. "They learn a lot from each other and the professionals who come in to share their knowledge and passions. The professionals who come in to speak almost without exception thank us for the opportunity and tell us what a great experience it was for them."

CBI is looking to program more than 100 sessions for the fall 2015 convention with topics including career advice, technical skills, social media, promotions, copywriting, news, sports, announcing, sales and more. For information on the types of sessions CBI has offered in the past, visit the website from last year's convention in Seattle at askcbi.org/seattle.

The 2015 National Student Electronic Media Convention will be held at the Hyatt Regency Minneapolis hotel, Oct. 22-24. For more information as it develops, visit askcbi.org/minneapolis.
